He stated of the yacht considerably. that the ways were perfectly sound, requiring only a little bracing, which could be done in a few hours.

The beat is almost ready to go into the water, and should be launched before the middle of next week. There is a possibility that she may slide off the ways before next Sunday night.

Her rudder frame is at Providence, and work on the boat is nearly finished. The carpenters are working rapidly, and the caulkers are right behind them.

Preparations are being made for the reception of the syndicate which owns the boat when they come to attend the launching, and it is expected that all who own an interest in the yacht will be present.
